Bianchi 'Vindicated'

G.B.I. Investigation Completed

by Kelly Harbaugh

Last September, the Georgia Bureau of Investigation (GBI) began an investigation of Armstrong Head Basketball Coach George Bianchi concerning the use of several apartments rented by the college for the use of ASC athletic department.

Nine months later, the GBI completed its investigation and released a report to President Ashmore.

Dr. Ashmore said, "The report indicated no fraud or theft by deception had taken place."

The investigation was initiated after questions arose concerning rental of Riviera Apartments to persons not affiliated with the college during the summer of 1981.

Coach Bianchi never denied the fact that he allowed tenants not affiliated with ASC to stay in the apartments. "I don't believe the apartments were improperly used. The apartments were rented by the college regardless of whether anyone was staying in them or not. By allowing tenants to rent the apartments out during the summer months, I added security and received large amounts of furniture for the returning players," he said.

Coach Bianchi openly admitted that the tenants were not charged rent. However, he insisted that the college did not lose any money.

"I made everyone pay utility bills. There was never any money loss. On the contrary, if anything, there was a gain as several tenants donated funds to the ASC athletic department in the form of furniture," he said.

Despite the fact the GBI officially cleared Coach

Bianchi, President Ashmore has turned over the responsibility for rental of the apartments to the Vice President for Business and Finance.

"Basically, it was an error by the college," Dr. Ashmore said. "We did not have specific regulations and guidelines. However, now that has been rectified."

"There were never any guidelines set by the administration," he said. "It's always been sort of a 'laissez faire' policy. The college acted as if they

Armstrong Ineligible for Federal Title III Funds

by Walt Hickox

Since 1972, Armstrong State College has enjoyed the benefits provided by the federal Title III Program.

Title III was initiated by the federal government to offer financial assistance to institutions of higher learning for the purpose of helping economically and culturally disadvantaged students.

In order for an institution to be eligible for Title III funding, certain qualifying criteria must be examined by the Department of Education (DOE) with subsequent approval. First, the average size of the Basic Educational Opportunity Grants (BEOG) or (PELL) are taken into consideration. The greater the average size per grant per Full Time Equivalent (FTE) student, the more qualifying points an institution receives. Second, the evaluating committee takes into account the percentage of students receiving BEOG funding.

Finally, the Educational and General (E&G) expenditures per FTE student is weighed. The lower the E&G expenditures per FTE student, the more qualifying points an institution receives.

The total number of points needed for an institution to qualify for funding in fiscal 1983 is 188. ASC's last request totaled 144 points, failing to meet the minimum eligibility requirements set by the DOE.

Several programs and employees' salaries are supported by Title III funding. The programs include Special Studies, Applied History Program (Museum Preservation) and the Management Information System. Funds supply equipment, supplies and summer instruction for these various programs. Four ASC employees receive salaries under this program. Two are employed in the Counseling and Placement Office, one in the Developmental Studies Department and the fourth in the Management Information System.

How will the loss of Title III funds affect the employment status of those involved? According to an administration official, "all job positions supported by Title III will be terminated unless their jobs are supplemented by the state budget for next year." Administration officials acknowledged three of the four positions have been supplemented for next year.

A search is being made by John Stegall, Vice-President for Business and Finance, to secure necessary funding for the other employee.

According to Erich Stocker, Director of Development, "It is highly unlikely that ASC will ever be a recipient of this program again. Only if the qualifying guidelines are changed will we stand a chance to receive funding from Title III again."

Dr. Ashmore Honored

President Henry Ashmore was honored recently during a brief ceremony at Georgia State Prison in Reidsville for his support of the Criminal Justice System. Dr. Ashmore and other college officials, along with ASC Criminal Justice students, toured the maximum security facility.

Harbaugh Chosen Editor of INKWELL

Kelly Harbaugh

by Linda McMillan

Kelly Harbaugh was selected by the Publication Board as the new editor of next year's INKWELL. Kelly, a sophomore majoring in English, is from Greenville, South Carolina but claims Savannah as his hometown.

When asked about his experience he said, "I was on the Johnson High School newspaper for two years as sports editor and was senior sports editor for the school's annual. I've also been a reporter for the INKWELL and served as assistant editor for one quarter. He went on to say

"I don't have any major changes in mind. I feel that Brenda Hall has brought the paper a long way in the past year. Basically, I am going to keep the staff the same; however I am looking for a few good artists and additional writers."

In the past year editor Brenda Hall has come under fire for covering stories that were not exactly good public relations for Armstrong. When asked how he will handle such stories, Kelly stated, "I will continue to cover any issue or story that I think the students should know about, whether controversial or non-controversial."

Chief Photographer Selected for S.P.S.

by Linda McMillan

Michael A. Moore was chosen by the Publication Board as 82-83 Chief Photographer for the Student Photographic Services (SPS). Michael, a sophomore majoring in Computer Science, is a graduate of Jenkins High School and is from Savannah.

Martha Boutin, editor of the "Geechee," was another key contributor to the tremendous success of this year's student leaders. The '82 edition of the "Geechee" is quite obviously the product of a great deal of hard work and dedication. Martha and the entire "Geechee" staff clearly deserve recognition for an outstanding year-book.

Windell Smith, head of SPS (Student Photographic Services), has done a fine job all year long. Windell and the rest of the SPS staff are yet another example of hard working students that receive little if no credit at all for their efforts.

And finally, I would like to take this time to recognize one of the most conscientious and hard working students here are Armstrong, Brenda Hall, this past year's editor of the INKWELL. There simply aren't enough words to say about this young lady. Brenda has done a truly outstanding job as editor this past year and aside from her contributions as editor, Brenda was also fairly active in SGA affairs.

Needless to say, the 1982-83 student leaders have a tough act to follow. However, I feel quite confident these students have what it takes to lead the ASC student body to a very enjoyable and successful year.

I, for one, am looking forward to the challenge of taking up where this year's editor Brenda Hall left off. Brenda has taken the INKWELL a long way this past year and I fully intend to continue to improve the paper throughout this upcoming year. I cannot promise that I will always print what you want to hear, or even what you expect to hear. However, I will continue to provide the ASC students with any news that directly concerns them.

Once again, I would like to congratulate this year's student leaders on a job well done. I'm relatively sure that I speak for the rest of next year's student leaders in promising that, with your cooperation and participation, the ASC student body will enjoy another successful year in '83.

The INKWELL welcomes the views and opinions of its readers and respectfully requests that you address your letters c/o Editor, ASC INKWELL, MCC Bldg., Room 202.

His experience includes four years with WSAV-Channel 3 as a photographer of Kroma-Key slides. When asked why he wanted the position, he replied, "I feel I can do some good work for Armstrong and that I'm qualified to do the job. I'm looking forward to serving the students."

The SPS is extremely vital to Armstrong as they are responsible for all the photography for the INKWELL, Geechee, and many of the special events that take place on the Armstrong campus.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

There have been two incidents of a class of mine being interrupted because of entertainment activities.

The first was an activity taking place in the Student Center. This was an irritation because we could not hear our instructor and he had to dismiss class early because he couldn't compete.

The second activity was the Simon Says thing going on in front of the Library.

The announcer started early over his speaker system loudly announcing that they would begin at 12:30.

Again our class was dismissed early because the instructor could not compete.

The new class room in the Student Center is not sound proof enough so that activities can be conducted at the same time as class. And I was under the impression that the newly instituted free period was the time for activities that couldn't be held otherwise. Well, if free period is to begin at 12:30 why can't noisy activities begin then instead of during the class period?

Can't something be done about these early starts so our classes won't be so rudely interrupted?

Mary A. Edenfield

Dear Editor,

Most of the flowering plants on campus were grown from seeds or cuttings in the plant operations greenhouse. Many of the cuttings came from Mr. Buckman from Buck's Greenhouse who saved them for me after he had done his pruning. Just recently he donated to the school 17 trays (48 plants to a tray) of marigolds and 12 trays of petunias.

Those plants I can't grow he sells to us wholesale as he had done for the last 2 years for the SOS scholarship fund drive.

He's also taken time away from his business to instruct me in the operation of his successful greenhouse. Much of the great success we've had in our plant operations greenhouse was due to pointers I learned from him.

So if while looking around you appreciate these colorful plants please remember Mr. Buckman and his generosity to Armstrong.

President Ashmore Reflects on Years at ASC

As I think of the eighteen years which I have served as President of Armstrong State College, the memories pass through my mind with a force of a running stream. Armstrong State College had another name when I first came. The name at that time was Armstrong College of Savannah. It had been for many years a two-year city owned college. Several years before I arrived the state had assumed control and ownership of the campus and the Board of Regents had voted to convert the junior college into a senior college, effective with my first month as President. The name was changed approximately a year later to Armstrong State College.

The college was located in the downtown section of Savannah in a group of old buildings. These were beautiful old buildings but not necessarily conducive to a good learning situation. Mills B. Lane, Sr., through the Mills B. Lane Foundation, offered to purchase approximately 250 acres on Abercorn Extension if the Board would move Armstrong State College to this new site. The years 1964, 1965 were years of planning for the eventual move to the new campus which took place in 1965. Originally there were three majors approved for Armstrong State college: One was a degree in Arts and Sciences, one was a degree in Business Administration, and one was a degree in Teacher Education. It was obvious to many of us at the time that people were going to be moving into metropolitan centers at an even faster rate than had been taking place. Therefore, we endeavored to think through what would be the programs most needed by a metropolitan area. It became obvious that programs in psychology and/or mental health, programs in allied health, programs in criminal justice, programs in social work, and similar professional programs were going to be those most needed within a few years. Armstrong State College began to work very hard in securing these new programs and as a result this college became involved in these new professional type programs several years in advance of sister institutions.

Armstrong State College was the first in the state to develop a two-year nursing program and a four-year baccalaureate program in nursing; the first to develop a program in criminal justice at the two-year level, later adding the four-year level (or baccalaureate degree) and soon will start the master's degree in criminal justice. The college is one of the first to ask for a program in general studies which hopefully will be approved, effective in September of 1982. The college was the first in the state to develop the concept of Exit Examinations and the first to develop a complete evaluation program of all of its activities, the faculty, the administrators, the various functions, etc. The college was also the first to develop the concept of a developmental program (or special program as it was first known).

It has been my pleasure to see the college develop these new programs, to provide leadership in the University System of Georgia, to grow from a small downtown campus to a spacious suburban campus, to develop a campus worth on today's market in excess of thirty million, to see the faculty grow from approximately 15-16 to 160, and to see the student body grow from approximately 550 to 3,000.

Armstrong State College is one of the best of its kind in the South. It has an outstanding faculty and it has developed a quality program. My hope for its future is that it will continue to be strong in its faculty, strong in its quality, and strong in its dedication to educating the youth in this part of the state.

Faculty Promoted

The Board of Regents has approved promotions for six members of the Armstrong State College faculty.

Promoted to professor were Dr. Jacquelyn W. Stephens (elementary education), Dr. Lawrence M. Tapp (health and physical education), and Dr. Morris L. Whiten (physics).

Dr. Stephens has her doctorate in education from the University of Oklahoma. She has been at Armstrong for the past three years, coming to the college from Savannah State.

Dr. Tapp has his doctorate from the University of Georgia. He has been at Armstrong for 12 years.

Promoted to associate professor were Dr. Ronald Beumer (biology) and Dr. George Menzel (criminal justice).

Dr. Beumer, who has been at Armstrong for seven years, received his doctorate from the University of Arkansas.

Dr. Menzel holds a juris doctorate from Georgetown University. He has been at ASC for five years after serving 25 years with the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Joe Restivo was promoted to assistant professor (biology). He has a master's degree from Stephen F. Austin University. He has been at Armstrong for seven years.

President Ashmore Approves Marquee

Although President Ashmore felt the recently purchased marquee looked like "a commercial sign", he finally agreed to let the marquee be erected.

The marquee, which has been the center of discussion with S.G.A. senators since its rejection by the administration in April, was purchased at a cost of $4,800.

President Ashmore gave the student senators several options as to the location and ownership of the marquee. One of the options was to sell the marquee to the college for the full price and allowing the college to use at its discretion, possibly for intramurals and athletics. "It seems senseless to purchase the sign and not use it," Dr. Ashmore said.

The other options included splitting the cost of the sign with the college resulting in dual ownership or finally accepting the marquee and have it erected across Abercorn at the corner of Abercorn and Middleground Road. The senators voted on the last option with the provision that any lighting or installation costs be paid for by the college as part of the payback for MCC renovations which S.G.A. unwillingly donated $15,000.

"I don't think the sign will clash as much with the decor of the campus across the street," Dr. Ashmore said. The marquee is expected to be erected within a few weeks. Jordan Sign Company, who constructed the marquee, was to be notified of the college's decision to accept the marquee last week.

When asked how he felt about the students petitioning the administration to reverse its decision about the marquee, Dr. Ashmore said, "It's great that the students got concerned, there's so much apathy in this world, it's great that people care enough to get involved."

Tal Groover, vice president of S.G.A., expressed his approval of the president's decision. "I'm very pleased," he said. "I would like to thank the administration for the cooperation as we worked to get this matter settled and those students who signed the petitions in support of the marquee."

didn't really care to get involved."

When asked what effect the investigation would have on Coach Bianchi's future at ASC, Dr. Ashmore said, "Coach Bianchi will be employed at Armstrong next year."

Dr. Ashmore made it clear that Coach Bianchi's contract for 1982-83 was approved before the investigation began and that Bianchi's future at Armstrong will be the decision of the next president.

Reflecting on the investigation, Coach Bianchi said, "I think there was a lot made to do over nothing. It was all started by a group of non-supporters of the basketball program. However, I'm glad that the GBI conducted the investigation. I feel vindicated by it."

When asked about the 1981-82 season, Coach Bianchi said, "It was obviously our most difficult season. Everyone will be watching us this year."

The Pirates will open the 1982-83 season is September with the return of All-American candidate, Ray Smith.

Last Call for a 19 year old Armstrong State College Sophomore to become a 21 year old Army Officer.

The Army offers college sophomores the opportunity to earn an officer's commission in two years. The deadline for this year's class is soon.

Apply now and once you are accepted for the special two year program, you attend a six week's summer camp, for which you'll be paid approximately $400. And that's not all. You may find yourself in the best physical condition you've ever been in.

Then back to college and the Army ROTC Advanced Course in the fall. If you've done exceptionally well at camp, you may be heading back to college with a full two-year scholarship.

For the next two years, you learn what it takes to be an Army officer. You get the kind of management and leadership and experience that will be an asset to you in any career, military or civilian. You will earn an extra $100 a month up to 20 months. And when you graduate, you will have earned your college degree along with the gold bars of an Army officer.

Beecher Retiring After Forty Years

by Mary Ann Edenfield

Mr. Orson Beecher, professor of History and a member of the Armstrong faculty for 40 years, will be retiring in August.

Professor Beecher received a bachelor's degree from Emory University in 1935 and a master's degree in Comparative Romance Literature in 1936. At the University of California, Berkley, he began work in Modern European History. In 1940, he received a master's in History from the University of Georgia and a Fellowship from the School of Education (1940-41). In the summer of '46, he took courses in testing at Columbia University. Professor Beecher has established language proficiency in German, Latin, Greek, Italian, Spanish and French.

Academic Awards include Phi Sigma Lota, Eta Sigma Psi, Phi Beta Kappa, and scholarships at Emory University, University of California and University of Georgia.

He was named faculty member of the year in 1979 at Armstrong State College. Mr. Beecher taught in the Savannah public schools before coming to Armstrong Junior College in 1942 where he taught Spanish and history (1942-59) and was Dean of Students from 1944-52.

From 1953-65, he served as Chairman of the Department of History and Political Science.

When asked why he chose to study and teach history, Professor Beecher said he was "interested in the movement of events and the philosophical results of those moments."

Reflecting on Armstrong's past, Mr. Beecher said that at one time during World War II he could remember when there were just three male students.

After the war, the total number of students doubled. He said that "in making the adjustments to the number of students Armstrong was allowed the use of the Georgia Historical Society Library with the stipulation that everyone who used it become a member of the Society."

In regards to teaching, Professor Beecher said, "It's been a lot of fun knowing the faculty and students. It's been very rewarding."

When asked what he plans to do when he retires, he said, "read books." In addition, Dr. Ashmore has asked Professor Beecher to write a history of the college. He also will finish translating a book on the French Revolution from French to English.

Ambrose and Radebaugh Not Retained

Mr. Ambrose

Mr. Radebaugh

by Leigh Weirich

In the Spring of 1981, Mr. James Ambrose and Mr. Dan Radebaugh, both of the Fine Arts Department, were notified that their contracts for the school year 1982-83 would not be renewed upon the recommendation of their department head, Dr. Stephen Brandon.

Mr. Ambrose has been an instructor in piano at Armstrong for 11 years and Mr. Radebaugh in voice for 8 years.

President Henry Ashmore explained the Board of Regents policy for non-retention of faculty, "The recommendation for dismissal from the department head must be accepted by the dean of the school. The dean's recommendation must then be accepted by the vice president of the college. Once approved and forwarded to the president, the president then considers these recommendations and makes a final decision," he said.

The Administration went beyond required Regents policy and appointed an appeals committee to hear statements and grievances in Mr. Ambrose and Mr. Radebaugh cases.

"I felt that since these professors had served quite a few years at the college that their request for an appeals committee could be granted," Dr. Ashmore said. "This committee, however, was not part of the Board of Regents policy."

The committee, which was formed last fall, was chaired by Dr. William Megathlin. Members included Dr. John McCarthy,

Mr. Orson Beecher, Dr. Allen Pingel and Dr. Lloyd Newberry. The committee was responsible for reviewing reports and letters from colleagues and the community concerning the recommended non-retention of Mr. Ambrose and Mr. Radebaugh.

"I asked the committee if they had interviewed my music colleagues in the department to ascertain their opinions of Dr. Brandon's recommendation," Mr. Ambrose said. "They said they had not."

According to Mr. Ambrose, the committee's report to the president did not indicate whether they knew the reasons behind Dr. Brandon's recommendation.

The committee based its decision on a file including memos from Dr. Brandon, Dean Joseph Adams, and Vice President Robert Burnett.

"These memos, much less their contents, were kept secret from me," Mr. Ambrose said. "Also, I learned that important letters of support from distinguished members of the faculty were missing from the file," he said.

Letters of support from Dr. Robert Strozler, and Dr.

Jones, Dr. David Noble, and Dr. Hugh Pendexter can no longer be found. "It's mysterious that they aren't there," Dr. Strozler said. "Letters of vigorous support are relevant to the committee. The members I talked to did not remember the letters. I think that is curious."

When asked about the letters of support from the faculty, Committee Chairman Dr. Megathlin said, "I don't remember them."

Dr. Brandon responded to his recommendation not to retain the two professors by saying, "I felt it was the best thing for the department."

Health Center Speaks on Skin Cancer

There you are-lying on the beach, your eyes closed, relaxing, soaking in the rays of the hot sun, feeling the cool breeze of the wind on your face. It's Summer-time!!! And that means walking barefoot, tanning our bodies and "getting back to nature".

Although we have great admiration for the sun, it's not the god so many of us worship. All of us at one time or another have been overexposed to the sun and experienced sunburn. It's painful and discomforting often leading to fever and nausea.

Too much sun also ages skin prematurely. It causes the skin to wrinkle, become tough, leathery looking, and develop dark patches. These aren't the worst results of constant overexposure to the sun. Skin cancer is!!

According to the American Cancer Society almost all of the 300,000 cases of this disease annually reported are sun-related. If treated in time, it can be cured. If found late or left untreated, serious scars can result. Early warning signs are: 1)A sore that does not heal; 2)Change in size or color of a wart or mole; 3)Development of any unusual pigmented area.

You can enjoy activities in the sunshine with adequate skin protection. Broiling, unprotected, year after year to get tan is quite another.

Pirates Wrap-Up Batting Season

Kirk Rahn

by Rex Smith

Recently, the men's baseball and women's softball seasons came to a close. To the delight of both Coach Joe Roberts and Coach B.J. Ford, each ASC team compiled a winning record, while both advanced to post season play.

In mens baseball play, the Pirates ended the season with a 44-24 mark. This broke the previous school record of 39 wins in a single season. The Pirates advanced to post season play by being extended a bid to the NAIA District 25 playoffs. The Pirates opened by playing 10th ranked Florida Atlantic. The Pirates fell to Florida Atlantic 6-5, on a last inning 3 run homer. After such a demoralizing loss, the Pirates jumped back the next day by defeating Flager College 13-1 and then later that night, defeating 9th ranked Shorter College by a score of 12-5. Coach Roberts noted that this surge of power after that loss showed the maturity of his men which was noted for going into the tournament as a young and inexperienced team.

In the finals of the loser bracket, ASC faced Florida Atlantic once again and lost once again by a 25-10 margin. According to Coach Roberts "Competing in the losers bracket just depleted us of pitchers."

In tournament play, the Pirates exploded for 10

Homeruns in 4 games. When asked where this sudden surge of power came from, Roberts replied, "We've had it all year, the men just rose to the occasion and that's what makes championship ball clubs."

Leading the Pirates at the plate this year was Kirk Rahn, who compiled a .396 batting average, while hitting 7 Homeruns, and Warren Bachman, who had a .377 batting average while driving in 57 runs. On the mound, the Pirates were led by Billy Ray Smith (1.87), and Mark Simons who compiled a 2.34 ERA, 10-2 record, while Fanning 116 batters. The Pirates batted .302 as a team and recorded a 2.56 ERA as a team. Both of which were at the top in District 25 team statistics.

In girls softball action this year, the Lady Pirates finished the season with an impressive 16-12 record and qualified to go to the State Tournament held in Atlanta.

The girls opened in the post season tournament by defeating Georgia State 3-2. In their second outing, they lost to eventual tournament winner Georgia Southern 9-1. Next, the Lady Pirates faced Georgia State once again and defeated them 10-4. Then in the finals of the losers bracket the Pirates lost to Georgia Tech in a very controversial game 1-0. Some players were quoted as saying that they were rooked, in not so many words.

Leading the Lady Pirates at the plate this year were Detra Thomas, with a .418 batting average while driving in 40 runs, and Phyllis Heidt who batted .390 and drove in 30 runs. Leading the Ladies in the field for the season were Lee Harmer and Detra Thomas who both achieved a .920 fielding percentage.

When asked about prospects for next year, Coach

B.J. Ford relates her concern for more female student involvement in college sports, primarily in softball. According to Coach Ford, "there are a number of women on the ASC campus who are capable of playing collegiate softball but who have not yet come out for the team."

This year at ASC, both Lady Pirate and Pirate ball players have achieved the goal of becoming all district. In womens play, Lee Harmer and Detra Thomas were selected to the All District Team. In mens play, Kirk Rahn and Warren Bachman were selected for the All District Team.

All ASC students should be proud of their athletic teams this Spring. The ASC baseball and softball teams both are proving their dominance in each of their respective sports and our both looking forward to great seasons in the future.

Reimer Takes Gold Medal In Judo

by Rex Smith

In the recently held Southeastern U.S. Judo Championships, ASC student Edward Reimer came home with the gold. This was Reimer's second consecutive year winning the gold medal in these championships in the 165 pound weight class and his third time winning his respective weight class.

Reimer began his judo skills at the age of eight and has competed regularly since then. He has been under the direction of the same coach for the past ten years. Coach George Montgomery says of his 18 year old student, "Reimer shows all the skills and strength necessary to become one of the best in the country in his weight class." Montgomery further speculated that, "Reimer should be a top prospect for the 1984 Olympic team."

Ed will be able to display his talent to the entire country on August 18th at the National Judo Championships held in Memphis Tennessee. When asked about the nationals, Ed simply says he has a good chance to win, but he is now more worried about the Albany Tournament coming up June 12th. According to Reimer, "I'm more worried about taking the gold in Albany right now, there ought to be some pretty good competition there"

To maintain his superiority in the field, Reimer works out in one way or another everyday of the week. On Mondays and Wednesdays, Reimer takes on extensive weight-training. On Tuesdays and Thursdays, he is trained on just judo skills and sparing. Reimer takes Friday off and runs three to four miles each day on the weekends.

Ed's major goal at this time is to make the 1984 Olympic team. That is what he strives for, perfection of the sport, and the only way he can do that is to make the 1984 Olympic team.

Ghetto Sluggers Take Softball Crown

by Rex Smith

This past week has been a very active one for Intramurals. The Gongas won their respective division in Softball by winning the tournament which was held Sunday as well as compiling the best season record. In the Alpha Division, the Ghetto Sluggers took the crown in the tournament, while the Thunderballs took the regular season trophy.

Last week a large Horseshoe tournament took place. As expected, coming out on top in singles was Walt Hickox. Mike Lariscy seemed pleased in the turnout of the Horseshoe tournament and would like to thank everyone who participated.

In Co-Ed Water Basketball competition, the Whales continue to show their superiority by compiling a 3-0 record.

This week marks the beginning of Ultimate Frisbee competition as well as the beginning of the great Pickle-Ball Tourney. Coach Lariscy describes Pickle-Ball as a fast moving exciting game which combines skills from racquetball, badminton, tennis, and volleyball.

Coach Lariscy is also in search of teams interested in entering a Half-Rubber Tourney. If you wish to enter, contact Coach Lariscy no later than Tuesday afternoon. The tournament will probably be scheduled to start at the end of next week. Also, anyone interested in entering a team in the Summer Basketball League, needs to contact Coach Lariscy in the Intramural Office before the end of Spring Quarter.

Last but not least, the Intramural Cook-Out and Award Ceremony is set for June 5 at 6:30 p.m. at the Student Center. The admission fee for the event will be $1 per person.

As the Intramural season draws to a close, Coach Lariscy wishes to thank all students and faculty members for their participation in Intramural events and by making this one of the most exciting Intramural seasons ever.

An Inspector Calls

by Mike Alwan

I have a tendency in my reviews to list the problems associated with each play, in order to do justice to the efforts of the players. This review will be no exception as the audience needs to be reminded of some special aspects of this modern play in which the characters have speech and mannerisms that closely approximate our own.

A Review

Because J.B. Priestly's "An Inspector Calls" is a fairly modern play, the characters are much easier to identify with, and we accordingly expect lighter laughter, wetter tears, more raucous anger, and more tender love from the actors.

Nobody acted themselves out of their place in the plot; nor was any player so subdued that there was a vacuum where he should have been. This is not to say that certain actors did not give outstanding performances, but the overall action was well-balanced.

Of the individual performances, Linda McMillan was especially pompous and unfeeling as Sybil Birling, the mother of the industrial family. Kerry Lipica, as the daughter, had a lovely accent, and gave a good performance as the chief moralist of the family.

David Marshall as the son assisted his sister in her attempts to convince their parents of their callousness. Bill Gebhart, as the fiance' of the daughter knew his lines almost too well, and unfortunately recited them at such speed that they were indistinct at times. Bill Easterling, as the initiator of all that was cruel and immoral in the play, did a fine job as the father of the family, as well as cutting a fine figure in a tuxedo.

Congratulations are due the cast and production staff of the Masquers for a fine performance.
